II. Reading Comprehension

Once upon a time some merry little mice went out to play. A very cruel cat was lying in the way. So many mice went out, but only a few came back. So, all other mice were afraid of getting out.

They were in great fear of the cat. They did not dare to come out day and night, for the fear that she would kill them. As they could not go out, they started to starve. Somehow they had to go out to get food. So, they all met to talk of the best thing for them to do.

There were many suggestions. Some for avoiding the cat by taking a different path to go out and some for tying a bell around the neck of the cat so that they could hear her coming.

As there was no other path to go out from their hide-out and gnawing a new one would take a lot of time, all agreed on the suggestion of tying a bell around the cat's neck. Getting a bell was not very difficult, but tying it around the cat's neck was a very difficult and challenging task.
